1 Read the following passage. Then answer the questions below.

An excited whisper filled the auditorium. The first act of the In Air Ballet Troupe's dance show was about to begin. The In Air Ballet Troupe was a talented dance group known for using a ① combination of ballet and acrobatics in their performances. Tonight, for the first time, two puppets would dance along with the troupe in the second act. Everyone in the audience agreed that this should be very interesting to see.

The crowd's whisper turned to silence as the curtain opened. Several ballerinas twirled across the stage and were lifted into the air by other dancers. Their partners lifted them so high that it seemed as if the ballerinas were made of air. One of the ballerinas then performed a ② jovial backflip from her partner's shoulders. The backflip was so well done that it made the audience gasp and cheer in their seats! Two other dancers twirled on one foot for what seemed like several minutes. It seemed impossible that they could spin for so long without becoming dizzy, but they never lost their balance.

The troupe used their skilled dancing to ③ convey stories without using words. In the final dance of the first act, a group of guests watched the wedding of two of the dancers. After the ceremony of ④ matrimony had finished, the guests leapt into the air, performing a ⑤ superb dance in celebration.

The audience clapped loudly as the curtain closed on the first act. Everyone agreed that these dancers were talented and skilled. No one could have guessed that the In Air Ballet Troupe's big night was about to be spoiled by an ⑥ incompetent puppeteer.

(2) Answer the questions below using words taken directly from the passage.

10 points per question

1) What would happen for the first time tonight?

Tonight, for the first time, two puppets would dance along with the troupe in the second act.

2) Why did it seem like the ballerinas were made of air?

The ballerinas seemed like they were made of air because their partners lifted them so high.

Read the passage. Then answer the questions below using words from the passage.

10 points per question

The audience applauded loudly as the curtain opened for the beginning of the second act. The dancing continued to be superb, much to the audience's delight. When the two puppets were lowered from the ceiling, the crowd conveyed its amazement with gasps and applause. The puppets were the size of people and looked much like real ballerinas with beautiful costumes.

At first it seemed like nothing was really wrong. One of the puppets bumped into a dancer, who pretended as if the bump was part of the act and performed a jovial leap in response. The audience laughed loudly. But it was soon clear that these puppets could not dance at all. Worried murmurs were heard in the audience as the clumsy puppets continued to bump into the dancers. The curtain was finally lowered when a group of ballerinas became entangled in the puppets' strings.

The incompetent puppeteer was not asked to perform again with the In Air Ballet Troupe. The troupe decided to stick with only real dancers in the future. The puppeteer decided she needed more practice to prevent any future disasters.

Later, those in the audience disagreed on the cause of the problem. Some said that it is very difficult for a puppeteer to learn ballet, while others said it was difficult for a puppeteer to learn acrobatics. Still others thought that the puppeteer was just not very good. A final group felt it was a combination of all three reasons. However, all of the people in the audience that night agreed on one thing: they had seen a performance they were unlikely to forget!

- (1) Why was the audience delighted at the beginning of the second act?

The audience was delighted because the dancing continues to be superb.

- (2) How did the crowd express its amazement at the puppets?

When the two puppets were lowered from the ceiling, the crowd conveyed its amazement with gasps and applause.

- (3) Why did the audience laugh at the dancer?

The audience laughed at the dancer because she pretended as if the puppet bumping into her was part of the act and performed a jovial leap in response.

- (4) Who was not asked to perform again with the troupe?

The incompetent puppeteer was not asked to perform again with the In Air Ballet Troupe.

- (5) Different people in the audience thought that the puppeteer was incompetent for three different reasons. What did the last group think?

The last group thought it was a combination of all three reasons.
